In its resolution 1015 (1995) of 15 September 1995, the Council decided that the restrictions and other measures referred to in paragraph 1 of resolution 943 (1994) should be suspended until 18 March 1996.

In paragraph 2 of the same resolution, the Council decided also that the arrangements referred to in paragraphs 13, 14 and 15 of resolution 988 (1995) should continue to apply.

In paragraph 13 of its resolution 988 (1995), the Council requested that every 30 days and no fewer than ten days before the expiration of the period referred to in paragraph 1 of the resolution, the Secretary-General submit to the Security Council for its review a report as to whether the Co-Chairmen of the ICFY Steering Committee, on the basis of information made available to them from ICFY Mission and all other available sources deemed relevant by the ICFY Mission, certify that the authorities of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) were implementing their decision to close the international border, on land and in the air, between the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) and the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina with respect to all goods, except foodstuffs, medical supplies and clothing for essential humanitarian needs, and were complying with the requirements of paragraph 3 of resolution 970 (1995) in respect to all shipments across the international border between the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) and the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

On 23 August 1995, the Secretary-General submitted, pursuant to Security Council resolution 1009 (1995), his report on the implementation of the above resolution and on the implications of the situation for the United Nations Confidence Restoration Operation in Croatia (UNCRO) (S/1995/730). In paragraphs 33-34 of the report, the Secretary-General indicated, inter alia, that he had instructed his Special Representative to pursue consultations urgently with the Croatian Government and the local Serb leadership in order to define in detail a possible mandate for UNCRO that he could recommend to the Security Council. The Secretary-General also had instructed his Special Representative to discuss with the Croatian Government what tasks, if any, it would be useful for UNCRO to continue to perform elsewhere in Croatia. In paragraph 35 of the report, the Secretary-General indicated that he would report with his recommendations to the Security Council as soon as his Special Representative's consultations reached a conclusion.

Navigation on the Danube river

By its resolution 992 (1995) of 11 May 1995, the Security Council decided that the use of the locks of the Iron Gates I system on the left hand bank of the Danube by vessels (a) registered in the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) or (b) in which a majority or controlling interest was held by a person on undertaking in or operating from the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) should be permitted.

The Council further decided that the resolution should come into force on the day following the receipt by the Council from the Committee established pursuant to resolution 724 (1991) of a report by the Danube Commission that they were satisfied that preparations for the repairs to the locks of the Iron Gates I system on the right hand bank of the Danube had been completed. The required report by the Danube Commission was transmitted to the Council on 22 June 1995 (S/1995/502); thus the resolution entered into force the following day, i.e. 23 June 1995.

In paragraph 2 of the resolution, the Council further decided, inter alia, that the resolution should remain in force for a period of 60 days from the date on which it came into force, and, unless the Council decided otherwise, for further periods of up to 60 days if the Council was notified by the Committee established pursuant to resolution 724 (1991) that each such further period was required for completion of the necessary repairs. In this connection, the Council, in paragraph 7 of the resolution, requested the Executive Director of the Danube Commission to inform the Chairman of the Committee established pursuant to resolution 724 (1991) of the date of completion of the repairs, or, if the repairs had not been completed within 60 days of the entry into force of the resolution, or within the subsequent periods of up to 60 days for which the provisions of the resolution might be extended, to provide the Chairman with a report on the state of the repairs 10 days before the expiry of any such period.

The report by the Executive Director of the Danube Commission was transmitted to the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 724 (1991) concerning Yugoslavia on 10 August 1995. The Committee considered the report at its meeting on 16 August 1995. By a letter of the same date (S/1995/705) from its Chairman, the Committee notified the Security Council, in accordance with paragraph 2 of resolution 992 (1995), that a further period of 60 days was required for completion of the necessary repairs to the locks of the Iron Gates I system on the right-hand bank of the Danube.

On 18 August 1995, the Security Council considered the letter of 16 August 1995 from the Chairman of the Committee (S/1995/705), keeping resolution 992 (1995) in force for another period of 60 days, subject to paragraph 6 of the resolution, starting from 22 August and ending on 20 October 1995.
